

A B S T R A C T

A fixing member (100) for fixing a dispensing member (3) to an opening (20) of a reservoir (2), said fixing member having means (132) designed to receive the dispensing member, and a substantially cylindrical skirt (110) designed to be engaged in the opening of the reservoir to establish leaktight contact therein, said fixing member being characterized in that the skirt is provided with at least one vent (115) passing through the thickness of the skirt.